Seeking: AI Product Lead | Agentic workflows & multi-agent delivery | 0→1 product commercialisation | AI solutions | Cross-border AI business | Hangzhou | 14 years' experience

PROFILE

I ship products with AI agents. Business case, product definition, design, code, deployment and live operations are handled end to end by one person driving a multi-agent pipeline I built myself. Ten-plus products are live on their own domains today: NeoLabCare, GramLingo, BrainyBaobei, Edenne, Pulse Instinct, Firefly Global and the Robotist site among them.

I built the agent stack underneath that delivery: multi-agent task orchestration, code generation and review, local-model memory and reasoning, and automated deployment with independent verification — which compresses "brief to working product" into a cycle one person can carry.

Currently a partner at Robotist, responsible for taking robotics products global and from zero to commercial: investor-grade business plan, cross-border business model, the site built from scratch, and a self-built AI agent embedded in the site front end to handle inbound enquiries.

Fourteen years of hands-on commercial work informs the product calls — Bulgari's high jewellery annual show and gala, Discovery Asia, Nike, OnePlus, and the Westlake University WeKwikGene research platform. Product definition there comes from real user behaviour and a real business model, not a technology demo.

EXPERIENCE

Robotist.com.au | Partner (CMO)

Feb 2026 – Present

Own the zero-to-one loop of a robotics export platform, from strategy to delivery, focused on cross-border commercialisation and taking the products global.

- Wrote the investor-grade business plan and designed a differentiated "retail + integration + service" cross-border model, building the trust chain from domestic supply chain to overseas market;
- Directed internal and external resources to build the brand system, design and develop the website from zero, and optimise page performance; set up the Shanghai–Hangzhou–Sydney operating base;
- Built an AI agent into the site front end to handle inbound customer enquiries, closing the product–commercial–digital loop behind both business development and fundraising.

Pulse Branding | Founder & CEO

Sep 2019 – Present

A brand and digital-product studio run as a one-person full-stack operation: I own the whole project and direct external design and development partners to deliver strategy, design and engineering as one package.

- Built an agent swarm that runs the studio's own workflows: long-running task orchestration, code supervision and iteration, local-model memory and reasoning — covering content generation, review and multi-platform distribution and cutting delivery cycles sharply;
- Built Pulse Growth Engine, a full content engine with its own server, front end, test suite and database schema, wired to text and image generation models;
- Took several products from zero to one: GramLingo (English learning product), NeoLabCare (premium skincare DTC store, including a Shopify Collabs creator programme reaching a hundred-plus creators), the EDEN AI companion app, and a culture-and-technology site for classical Chinese scientific texts;
- Incubated and single-handedly ran Pulse Instinct, a web app that reads subconscious preference signals for brand and design teams: market research, feasibility validation, team assembly, MVP definition, a year-long build to launch and continuous iteration — plus its brand identity, website and promo film;
- Coordinated clients and external suppliers across multi-party delivery, with a 99% client satisfaction rate; flagship project: Westlake University's WeKwikGene research platform.

Shanghai Xiersen Children Service Centre | CMO

Oct 2019 – Jan 2025

Full ownership of a non-profit's brand, content production, social channels at home and abroad, visual design, copywriting, video editing and motion design, and website development, delivered through external partners.

- Created "Extraordinary Silhouettes", the first Chinese public-interest comic series centred on people with special needs: story development, cover and interior design, visual identity, social distribution, events and merchandise;
- Used neuroscience methods to collect user preference data that guided content and product iteration; the project raised over RMB 200,000 in donations.

Alchemist Films | Producer

Feb 2018 – Jan 2019

Ran end-to-end production management for commercial documentaries and brand films: locations, equipment and crew partners, permits, travel, budgets, localised content and full post-production oversight, plus client management.

- Co-produced Discovery Asia's "Beauty And The Feast";
- Supported Wanda's "Fly Over Sichuan" 5D film, working with overseas producer Tipping Point Studio on joint production;
- Delivered full production for the Nike × The One Crew campaign film and OnePlus's Marvel-themed promotion.

Perfume Holding Co., Ltd. | Brand Manager

Dec 2016 – Aug 2017

Brand awareness, distributor and client liaison, distributor registration, import and licensing administration, seasonal promotions, internal and sales training.

Talika Marketing Co., Ltd. | Marketing

Jan 2014 – Dec 2015

China business with the APAC director: marketing strategy, new-product positioning, logistics and import clearance, launches and PR, sales training and channel strategy, WeChat/Weibo operations.

SELECTED PROJECTS

NeoLabCare skincare

Founder

Oct 2025 – Present

Zero-to-one across the whole chain: product direction, brand strategy, a pre-order business model, the DTC store build and a creator distribution programme, run with external partners.

Westlake University

WeKwikGene
